KoltiSkills, Extension Services Beyond Traceability

Koltiva's 'boots-on-the-ground' extension services support companies to implement sustainable sourcing efforts in the first mile of global value chains. Koltiva deploys hundreds of Field Agents globally to work directly in producer communities.

KOLTISKILLS

Koltiva's Field Agents support businesses and producer communities to accelerate the adoption of sustainable production practices, which in turn improves their income and protects the environment.

Through training and surveying activities, KoltiSkills offers critical support for our clients' sustainable sourcing projects by using a combined technology and human interaction approach.

SUPPLY CHAIN MAPPING AND VERIFICATION

Producer surveying to map the origins of your products, verify farm production practices and emissions, and ensure compliance to your sustainability standards (or third-party certification standards).

TRAINING AND COACHING

Group training to raise awareness of sustainable practices and one-on-one coaching to support producer households in implementing their farm development plans.

PRODUCT TRACEABILITY

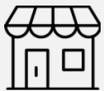

Monitoring for supply chain actors in the field to verify product segregation and support quality control, from seed to table.
